

Edward Farren

Senior Associate - Litigation executive

efarren@fenwickelliott.com

Edward has over 30 years' experience specialising in construction disputes, giving him a thorough understanding of the industry and the problems encountered. He acts in contentious matters for a wide variety of construction clients including employers (both private and institutional), main contractors, subcontractors and consultants.

Specialist expertise

Edward has worked at Fenwick Elliott for over 20 year's so his experience and role within the firm is very diverse but with particular focus on:

- Debt recovery;
- insolvency;
- enforcement;
- investigations;
- Site security;
- Securing/protecting property and assets.

Edward is also the firm's Legal Costs Consultant assisting with client budgeting and inter-party cost disputes.

Other activities

Edward follows motor racing, football (West Ham) and rugby (Harlequins) and is a keen participant of field sports.

Edward is also a keen sailor, a former member of The Royal Ocean Racing Club and a committee member of the Little Britain Challenge Cup which is an annual sailing regatta held in Cowes for the construction industry.